Colleagues,

As we prepare for commencement celebrations this weekend, I want to pause to thank you for the invaluable role each of you plays to guide, ignite and champion our students to this important milestone. Semester to semester and year after year, your dedication is what differentiates Regis University and the student experience.

I am humbled by your unwavering generosity of time and spirit. I hope that over the summer months you have the chance to relax with family and friends, reflect and recharge. Please extend my appreciation to your personal support networks for their shared commitment to Regis University.

Gratefully,

John P. Fitzgibbons, S.J.
